DETAILED ACTIONDrawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "diametrically opposed pairs of the four strain gages" which are arranged on the load cells with the first having an "upward orientation" and the second having a "downward orientation", must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). Currently, Figures 6 & 7 show only one strain gage 120; there is no indication of how or where gages 5 & 6 are located on the load cell or how they are physically located in space relative to the other strain gages which are "diametrically opposed". No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The terms "diametrically opposed" and "opposite directions" in claim 10 have never been clearly defined in the written description. In claim 11, it is unclear what is meant by "upward orientation" and "downward orientation" since these terms have never been defined in the specification (e.g. : does "downward orientation" mean placed on the bottom of the load cell shown in Figure 6? If so, bottom of which of the three branches of the load cell?). Also, claim 11 seems to contradict claim 10 in the sense that claim 10 seems to recite four load cells which each have only one strain gage while claim 11 seems to recite two different pairs of strain gages. Since the strain gages are never physically located in space, it is impossible to interpret what applicant is trying to claim.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-9 are allowable over the art of record. With respect to claim 1, the closest prior art, U.S. patent # 5,183,125 to Schurr shows (Figure 3) a load cell shaped similar to the one claimed in the present application, but it clearly uses at least two strain gages (20,21) which are placed on the load cell (10) on a side opposite the side of the load cell which contains the step cut (26) which makes the "joint", or "pivot point", 42 offset from "joint", or "pivot point", 43; applicant's claim 1 recites a load cell with a "single" strain gage which is located on the same side of the load cell as the step cut since the single strain gage is recited as being "disposed on the block in the vicinity of one of the offset joints" [emphases added], not on the opposite side as shown in Figures 2-4 of Schurr.
